

Eco-friendly bamboo tops furniture for style and function

Environmentally-aware campers are turning neighbours green with the fantastic new additions to the Outwell eco-friendly bamboo outdoor furniture range.

Good looking bamboo lifts any outdoor furniture and adds a chic element to any pitch but it is not only fashion that adds to its suitability for outdoor living. This natural material is highly resistant to water, heat and UV – making it ideal for areas of hard use, like tabletops and work surfaces.

Outwell bamboo furniture has already proven its popularity with campers and the award-winning brand builds on the success of its Calgary tables, Dawson Picnic Table and Marilla Picnic Table Set with a new range of stylish bamboo furniture which enhances tent ambience and comfort while saving storage space.

The Duncan chair has a strong aluminium frame with polyester seat and back in a classic green. Although the quick-to-open chair weighs in at a light 3.2kg it can support 100kg. It features bamboo arms, a back mesh pocket for magazine storage and a carrybag for convenient storage and transportation.

The good looking Kamloops table (pictured right) is the perfect accompaniment to the Duncan chair. It opens to 72 x 100 x 70cm and the lightweight yet strong aluminium frame and beautiful bamboo table top can carry 30kg. When folded down it measures just 37 x 100 x 8cm and features a carry handle to make transportation easier.

The Kimberley coffee table (pictured left) is proving a popular choice with campers who appreciate the convenience of having a small table on which to keep drinks, magazines and other small items close to hand when relaxing. The unusual round design in fetching bamboo not only delivers a sophisticated feel but is eminently suitable for outdoor living. The Kimberly also folds in half for storage, with the legs then doubling as a carry handle.
