

OUTWELL PASSIVE COOLERS – KEEP FOOD AND DRINK COLD FOR LONGER WITHOUT POWER

Highly efficient and simple to use, the new tough, sturdy and top-performing Fulmar passive cooler range brings a new dimension to the popular Outwell Cool 'n' Go collection of cool boxes, cool bags and freezers.

Passive coolers add versatile, cost-effective options for campers on site, at the beach and at outdoor events without the need for power to function reliably. Each can be used with frozen Outwell ice blocks or, more commonly, filled with ice that is readily available in bulk from supermarkets, to keep contents cool for extended periods of time.

The Outwell Fulmar range comprises 30-litre (pictured right) and 60-litre (pictured below left) boxes, plus a 5.8-litre drinks container. All are well insulated using high density PU foam under the hard-wearing outer casing – the 30- and 60-litre models will keep contents cold for four and five days respectively. The passive coolers feature a built-in drain valve to maintain efficiency by removing melt water and to aid cleaning.

The rugged build and design features ensure Fulmar passive coolers can withstand the rigours of camping life and the 30-litre and 60-litre models have stainless steel fittings, rugged hinges and dual clips for durability. Big sturdy carry handles help transport loads comfortably. The 60-litre also features four handy cup holders in the lid extend flexible use.

The Fulmar 5.8L (pictured right) keeps water and drinks cool and features a large opening for easy filling and cleaning. A foldable spout assists liquid flow through the bottom tap and a fold-flat carry handle provides a convenient and comfortable way to carry the full container around.
